INTRODUCTION

ACF Overview

The Administration for Children and Families (ACF), a component of the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (HHS), is responsible for a number of programs intended to promote the social and economic well-being of American children, youth, their families and the communities in which they live. Through its Federal leadership, ACF seeks to form innovative partnerships with State, local and Tribal governments; other Federal and relevant public and private agencies; and community-based and national organizations, including Native American entities and frontline service providers. Together with its partners, ACF strives to empower individuals, families and communities to enhance their social and economic independence and to promote a better quality of life.

ACF Tribal Resource Directory

The purpose of this Tribal Resource Directory is to provide useful information on programs funded by ACF for American Indian Tribes, Alaska Native Villages and/or Native American organizations. This Resource Directory includes profiles of ACF programs for which American Indian Tribes, Alaska Native Villages and/or Native American organizations are eligible to apply directly or where, by law, they receive services through the States. Each program profile describes the program’s purposes, funding uses, types of awards and funding levels, as well as eligibility requirements and application instructions for funding. For additional information, see the Agency Contact table listed at the end of each program.

ACF Tribal Resources Website

The Administration for Native Americans (ANA) website, http://www.acf.hhs.gov/programs/ana/resources/links.html, contains information on a number of relevant Tribal resources. Although this site can provide links to many Tribal programs, it may not include all available programs and should be considered only as a first step and helpful tool in navigating through the web in search of specific programs that may benefit Tribes.

Additionally, the following websites may prove helpful in designing effective strategies to assist Tribal families in becoming self-sufficient:

- Temporary Assistance for Needy Families (TANF) and welfare reform at (http://www.acf.hhs.gov/programs/dts)
- Mentoring Children of Prisoners Program at (http://www.acf.hhs.gov/programs/fysb/content/youthdivision/programs/mcpfactsheet.htm)
- Office of Child Support Enforcement (OCSE) at (http://www.acf.hhs.gov/programs/cse/resources/tribal/)
- Catalog of Federal Domestic Assistance (CFDA) at (http://12.46.245.173/pls/portal30/SYSTEM.BROWSE_AGENCY_RPT.show)

Transitional Living for Homeless Youth
(CFDA 93.550)

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Program Office</th>
<th>Family and Youth Services Bureau</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Purpose</td>
<td>The overall purpose of the Transitional Living Program (TLP) for Homeless Youth is to establish and operate transitional living projects for homeless youth, including pregnant and parenting youth. This program is structured to help older homeless youth achieve self-sufficiency and avoid long-term dependency on social services. Transitional Living Programs provide shelter, skills training, and support services to homeless youth, including pregnant and parenting youth ages 16 through 21 for a continuous period not exceeding 18 months.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Funding Uses</td>
<td>Transitional Living Programs are required to provide youth with stable, safe living accommodations and services that help them develop the skills necessary to move to independence. Living accommodations may be host family homes, or &quot;supervised apartments.&quot; (Supervised apartments are either grantee-owned apartment buildings or &quot;scattered site&quot; apartments, which are single-occupancy apartments rented directly by young people with support from the grantee.)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Types of Awards</td>
<td>Discretionary grants.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Entities Eligible to Apply</td>
<td>Unless they are part of the law enforcement structure or the juvenile justice system, States, localities, private entities, and coordinated networks of such entities are eligible to apply for a Transitional Living Program grant. Federally recognized Tribes are eligible to apply for grants; non-Federally recognized Tribes and urban Indian organizations are eligible to apply as private, non-profit agencies. Faith-based organizations and small community-based organizations are also eligible to apply.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Application Process</td>
<td>Application for Federal assistance, Standard Form 424, is to be submitted. Specific instructions published in the Federal Register.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Determination of Funding Amounts</td>
<td>Grantee must provide matching funds equal to at least 10% of the Federal share. The non-Federal share may be in cash or in-kind. (There are certain exceptions for Tribes with &quot;638&quot; funding pursuant to P.L. 93-638, under which certain Federal grants funds may qualify as matching funds for other Federal grant programs, e.g., those that contribute to the purposes for which grants under section 638 were made). The non-Federal share may be met by cash or in-kind contributions, although applicants are encouraged to meet their match requirements through cash contributions. Therefore, a five-year project costing $1,000,000 in Federal funds (based on an award of $200,000 per 12-month budget period) must include a match of at least $100,000 ($20,000 per budget period). Grants are awarded competitively for project periods of 3 to 5 years. The financial assistance range is $100,000 to $200,000, with an average grant of $150,000.</td>

Low Income Home Energy Assistance Program (LIHEAP)
Block Grant and Leveraging Incentive Program
(CFDA 93.568)

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Program Office</th>
<th>Office of Community Services</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Purpose</td>
<td>To assist low-income households, particularly those with the lowest incomes who pay a high proportion of income for home energy, primarily in meeting their immediate home energy needs. “Home energy” means a source of heating or cooling in residential dwellings.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Funding Uses</td>
<td>Heating assistance, cooling assistance, energy crisis intervention (crisis assistance), weatherization, and services that encourage and enable households to reduce their home energy costs.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Types of Award</td>
<td>The regular LIHEAP block grant is a formula grant. The Leveraging Incentive Program provides additional funding to LIHEAP grantees that have leveraged non-Federal home energy resources for low income households.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Entities Eligible to Apply</td>
<td>Federally recognized Tribes, State-recognized Tribes, and Tribal organizations acting on behalf of eligible Tribes, States, and territories. States provide LIHEAP assistance to low-income Indian households that are not in the service populations of direct-grant Tribes.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Application Process</td>
<td>Applications are submitted by the Chief Executive Officer of an Indian Tribe or Tribal organization, State, or territory, or his/her designee. LIHEAP block grant applications contain assurances prescribed by law and a plan describing how certain assurances will be carried out, and other information prescribed by the law. Tribes must apply by September 1st (postmark date) preceding the fiscal year for which funds are sought, or get State approval for late submission. To qualify for Leveraging Incentive Program funds, a separate application must be submitted by November 30th (postmark date). Households that want to apply for LIHEAP benefits should contact their Tribe/Tribal organization or, if they are not in the service population of a direct-grant Tribe/Tribal organization, contact their State’s local LIHEAP administering agency.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Determination of Funding Amounts</td>
<td>By law, Tribes’ regular LIHEAP block grant allocations are offset from the gross allocations of the State(s) in which the Tribes are located. They are based on the number of LIHEAP-eligible American Indian households living on the Tribe’s reservation and adjacent trust lands, compared to the total number of LIHEAP-eligible households in the State – or a larger amount agreed to by the Tribe and State. For Tribes without reservations, HHS, in consultation with the Tribe and the State, defines the number of eligible Indian households for the calculation. The President may release additional LIHEAP funds (energy emergency contingency funds) to LIHEAP grantees for energy-related emergencies. Energy emergency contingency funds for Tribes are generally distributed based on the same formula as regular block grants. Leveraging Incentive Program fund awards are based on the value of the non-Federal home energy resources leveraged by a grantee in the preceding fiscal year, compared to the grantee’s regular LIHEAP block grant allocation and the total value of resources leveraged by all grantees in the preceding fiscal year.</td>

<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Purpose</td>
<td>The Child Support Enforcement Program enhances the well-being of children by assisting in obtaining support. Working with parents, the child support program assures that children can count on financial, medical and emotional support. OCSE provides guidance and funds to States and to Federally recognized Tribes. Tribes now have the option of operating their own Tribal child support program. (Some Tribes may make child support services available to children of the Tribe without receiving a direct Federal grant through various means including cooperative agreements with State child support programs, finding that this may be more cost-effective than managing a Federal grant direct to the Tribe.)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Funding Uses</td>
<td>The Final Regulations on Tribal Child Support Enforcement (45 CFR Part 309) allow Federally recognized American Indian and Alaska Native Tribes to apply for Start-up funds, or for operating a comprehensive child support program. Child Support Enforcement services include the following: (1) establishment of paternity; (2) establishment, modification and enforcement of support orders; and (3) location of non-custodial parents.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Types of Awards</td>
<td>Tribal Child Support Enforcement programs receive 90% Federal funding, with Tribes contributing a 10% share for the first three years of program operation. After three years, the funding formula goes to 80% Federal funding, with Tribes required to contribute a 20% share.</td>

Purpose

To: (1) provide grants to Tribes to assist needy families with children so that the children can be cared for in their own homes; (2) reduce dependency by promoting job preparation, work, and marriage; (3) reduce and prevent out-of-wedlock pregnancies; and (4) encourage the formation and maintenance of two-parent families.

Funding Uses

Tribes have broad flexibility to use the grant funds in any manner that meets the purposes of the program, including providing low-income households with assistance, monthly grants, in various forms, designed to meet a family's ongoing basic needs (i.e. for food, clothing, shelter, utilities, household goods, personal care items, and general incidental expenses) and providing supportive services.

Types of Awards

Block grants.

Entities Eligible to Apply

Federally recognized Tribes in the lower 48 States and 13 specified entities in Alaska. Tribes that operate TANF programs must do so under plans approved by the Department of Health and Human Services (HHS).

Application Process

Tribes submit a three-year family assistance plan. The Department, in consultation with the Tribe, would set program requirements and time-limits for receipt of welfare-related services, consistent with the purposes of the program and economic conditions/resources of each Tribe. Tribes should contact the ACF Regional TANF Program Managers for Tribal plan submittal procedures.

Determination of Funding Amounts

Tribes that receive Federal TANF funds to operate their own approved Tribal TANF program have no matching or maintenance-of-effort requirement. Tribes are awarded their assistance grants in quarterly payments. They may reserve unexpended grant funds awarded, without fiscal-year limitation, to provide assistance under the Tribal TANF program in subsequent years. With certain exceptions, most families are limited to no more than 60 months of assistance (whether consecutive or cumulative) funded with Federal TANF grant funds. Tribes have the flexibility to establish time limits on receipt of assistance. They also have the flexibility to define the service area and population, Indian family, eligibility criteria, benefits and support services, work activities and required work hours, establish penalties, and to negotiate work participation rates. The Tribal Temporary Assistance for Needy Families (TANF) Final Rule was published in the Federal Register on February 18, 2000 (Vol. 65, No. 34). Tribal rules can be found at 45 CFR Part 286. For Tribal programs, ACF will negotiate a limitation on administrative costs for the first year of the program's operation not to exceed 35%, for the second year of the program's operation not to exceed 30%, and for the third and subsequent years of the program's operation not to exceed 25%.

<td>Purpose</td>
<td>To make grants available to States, Territories, and Tribes to assist low-income families with child care and to: (1) allow the maximum flexibility in developing child care programs and policies that best suit the needs of children and parents within the State or Tribe; (2) promote parental choice to empower working parents to make their own decisions on the child care that best suits their family's needs; (3) encourage States and Tribes to provide consumer education information to help parents make informed choices about child care; (4) assist in providing child care to parents trying to achieve independence from public assistance; and (5) assist in implementing the health, safety, licensing, and registration standards established in State or Tribal regulations.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Funding Uses</td>
<td>CCDF is available to provide child care assistance to families who are receiving Temporary Assistance for Needy Families (TANF); families who are attempting through work activities to transition off TANF; families who are at-risk of becoming dependent on TANF; and low-income working families. Grantees receiving more than $500,000 in a fiscal year must spend at least 4% on quality activities. Not more than 15% of the aggregate CCDF funds expended in each fiscal year's allotment shall be used for administrative costs. The Discretionary Fund's (DF) base amount may be used for any activity consistent with the purposes of the CCDF and is not included in the administrative cost calculation.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Types of Awards</td>
<td>The CCDF consists of two funding sources: 1. Discretionary Funds (DF) – funding that is provided under the Child Care and Development Block Grant Act, as amended. 2. Tribal Mandatory Funds (TMF) – funding that is provided to eligible Tribes and Tribal organizations under Section 418 of the Social Security Act.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Entities Eligible to Apply</td>
<td>Federally recognized Indian Tribes and consortia representing Federally recognized Indian Tribes are eligible to apply for CCDF funds. </tr>
<tr>
<td>Application Process</td>
<td>An eligible applicant must submit a two-year plan for CCDF services that outlines the proposed use of block grant funds and that provides certain assurances and certifications. Each year ACF issues a Program Instruction to describe the funding application process. ### Determination of Funding Amounts

DF grants include a base amount of $20,000 plus a per-child amount ($56 per-child in FY 2006) for each Tribe or Tribal consortium with a minimum of 50 children. TMF are calculated solely on a per-child basis ($96 per child in FY 2006), and do not include a base amount.

ACF Program Offices T/TA Providers

Administration for Native Americans (ANA)

Contracts are awarded to provide short-term training and technical assistance (T/TA). The contractors are not authorized to write applications, but rather to assist ANA applicants to conceptualize strategies for social and economic development, Native Language preservation, environmental regulatory enhancement and environmental mitigation; then translate those concepts into viable applications for ANA funds. ANA’s T/TA providers also conduct site visits and assist grantees with project implementation or challenges. T/TA is provided at no cost to recipients.

Child Care Bureau (CCB)

The Child Care Bureau (CCB) is dedicated to enhancing the quality, affordability, and availability of child care for all families. CCB administers Federal funds to States, Territories, and Tribes to assist low-income families in accessing quality child care for children when parents work or participate in education or training. CCB has contracted with the following Child Care Technical Assistance (CCTAN) partners to promote its mission:

T/TA Provider: After-School Investments

Contractor: The Finance Project, Carol Cohen, Project Co-Director, Barbara Langford, Project Co-Director

The After-School Investments project provides technical assistance to support program development and administration on issues related to after-school initiatives. The project produces and disseminates information, tools, and materials for supporting and sustaining programs and creating successful partnerships between CCDF grantees and the many other public and private sector partners responsible for improving after-school opportunities in the States. The contractors are The Finance Project in partnership with the National Governors Association.

This partner is a grantee through University of Illinois (through a cooperative agreement from the Child Care Bureau and Office of Head Start).

This five-year project will support a national center to help Head Start and Child Care programs identify and implement practices with demonstrated effectiveness in promoting children’s social and emotional competence. The Center on the Social and Emotional Foundations for Early Learning is a collaborative initiative of Child Care and Head Start. The goals of the Center are designed to strengthen the capacity of Child Care and Head Start to improve the social and emotional outcomes for young children. The University of Illinois will partner with a consortium of universities and early childhood organizations, including the University of Colorado at Denver, the University of South Florida, the University of Connecticut, Tennessee Voices for Children, and Education Development Center to carry out the goals and activities of the Center.
This partner is a grantee through The National Center for Children in Poverty.

Child Care and Early Education Research Connections (Research Connections) is a web-based, interactive database of research documents and public-use data sets for conducting secondary analyses on topics related to early care and education. This project was launched in 2004 through a cooperative agreement with the National Center for Children in Poverty (NCCP) at Columbia University and the Inter-University Consortium for Political and Social Research (ICPSR) at the University of Michigan. Research Connections conducts literature reviews; develops and disseminates materials designed to improve child care policy research; provides technical assistance to researchers and policy makers; conducts data-analysis workshops; synthesizes findings into policy research briefs; and provides support to the Child Care Policy Research Consortium.

This partner is a grantee through National Association of Child Care Resource & Referral Agencies (NACCRRA)

NACCRRA, through a cooperative agreement with CCB, receives funding to operate Child Care Aware, a national toll-free child care consumer telephone hotline and web site. The mission of Child Care Aware is to ensure that families have access to accurate, useful information about finding child care. Through Child Care Aware, families are linked to their local, community-based child care resource and referral program, and consumer education materials.

This partner is a grantee through National Association of Child Care Resource & Referral Agencies (NACCRRA)
The Child Care Information Systems Technical Assistance Project (CCISTAP) supports State, Territory, and Tribal grantees, and the Central and Regional Office Federal staff in collecting, managing, analyzing, and reporting child care data. CCISTAP support falls into four major categories: systems development, CCB web support, statistical analysis and report generation, and provision of technical assistance (TA). The primary focus of TA, provided to CCDF grantees through the Child Care Automation Resource Center (CCARC), is on building the capacity of information systems at the local level to improve the quality of administrative data. TA is provided through a toll-free help line, software utilities for data providers, delivery of training at Regional and National conferences, and customized on-site TA.

This partner is a grantee through American Academy of Pediatrics.

The Healthy Child Care America campaign is a collaborative effort of health professionals, child care professionals, families, and other services working in partnership to improve the health and well-being of children in child care settings. The goals of the campaign are to provide technical assistance to assist States, Territories, Tribes, and communities in developing and strengthening linkages between child care providers, health professionals, and families. These partnerships ensure that children are cared for in healthy and nurturing environments and have access to necessary immunizations, health screenings, and other health and social services. The Healthy Child Care America campaign is sponsored by CCB and the Maternal and Child Health Bureau and is coordinated in partnership with the American Academy of Pediatrics.
NCCIC is the primary clearinghouse to support the development of expertise and the dissemination of child care information. An extensive database of child care information is maintained, and resources are disseminated via information and referral services, an Internet web site, publication of the Child Care Bulletin, periodic mailings, resource rooms at conferences, and presentations at meetings and conferences. A network of State technical assistance specialists, working with the ACF regional offices, provides on-site consulting support to State grantees.

The National Infant & Toddler Child Care Initiative works collaboratively with CCDF administrators and other partners to move forward system initiatives to improve the quality and supply of infant and toddler child care. Through Learning Communities and other approaches, the Initiative works with States and Territories to develop a deeper knowledge about specific elements of the early care and education system that supports quality infant and toddler child care. The Initiative collects and disseminates information on infant and toddler child care supply, investments, and initiatives; produces materials and resources; and responds to requests for information and technical assistance related to infant and toddler child care.
The Tribal Child Care Technical Assistance Center provides targeted technical assistance services to more than 500 Tribes supported by the Child Care and Development Fund. Activities include a toll-free information and referral line; maintenance of a web site with information on Tribal child care programs, including promising practices and available resources; an annual national Tribal child care conference; and cluster trainings.
Children’s Bureau (CB)

National Resource Centers

The National Resource Centers (NRCs) are funded by CB. Each NRC provides on-site training and technical assistance (T/TA) to States, Tribes, and public child welfare agencies in the preparation and implementation of the Child and Family Services Review (CFSR) process. This document is designed to communicate to States the focus of each NRC and the T/TA each provides. State and Tribal requests for T/TA are made to Regional ACF offices.
